CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 11.—The skies were bright today when the rivals for the world's baseball championship came onto the field, midst the usual tumultuous howling of the fans.

The weather was cold but was much warmer than yesterday and was almost comfortable by the time the game was called.

The crowd was larger than yesterday and interest was intense.

For the first six innings the game was fast and furious with no scores on either side.

Both pitchers are pitching wonderful ball and the team work is as near perfect as it can be with human beings playing the game.

The fireworks started in the sixth inning when the Sox ran in three and the Cubs got nothing in their half of the inning. There was no more scoring. Walsh struck out twelve "Cubs."

Mamie Hunt Was not Afraid to Die

TOT TRIED TO SAVE HER

Mother Clasps Part of the Body to Heart, Limbs Remain Under Train

Content to die that she might soon be among the angels she had learned of in the good book, little 7-year-old Mamie Hunt lived and talked soothingly to her grief-stricken mother for an hour after her body has been cut in twain by a Northwestern switching train shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the road crossing at the rubber mills.

The child was walking briskly home from school with little 6-year-old Dagna Senstad, and when they reached the crossing she started to walk across the cattle guard which guards the tracks. One of her feet slipped through, and tug as she would, she could not release it.

She told the little Senstad girl to unlace her shoe so she could slip her foot out, but, perhaps too frightened, this was not done in time. She tugged frantically, but in vain, and in terror watched the box car, which was being pushed ahead of the engine, which pulled several more behind it, bear down upon her.

Engineer Gorman was at the throttle, and his view was no doubt obstructed by the box car being pushed ahead.

William Nichols, a brakeman, standing upon the top of the front car saw the little girl and tried to notify the engineer in time, but failed. The train was going northward at a rapid rate, and though the engineer threw the throttle the moment he noticed the brakeman's frantic order, it was not until a moment after the child was struck. The first car and the engine passed over her body at the hips.

William Hunt, until two weeks ago a conductor on the Northwestern, was standing in the back yard of his home on Indian hill, only a short distance from the tracks when he heard the three warning shrieks of the engine's whistle and heard the engineer "throw" the throttle, foreseeing an accident he rushed to the scene, closely followed by the mother. They found their little girl lying between the cars which followed the engine, in the center of the road crossing where she had been dragged by the wheels.

Frantically the mother grasping her child and lifting the upper portion of her body in her apron ran screaming to their home, accompanied by George Johnson, who was one of the first on the scene.

When the mother picked up her child, the lower limbs which had been completely severed remained between the tracks. Ben Stoen of the rubber mills produced some heavy wrapping paper, and carefully wrapping up the severed limbs of the girl, carried them to the dooryard, where he deposited them, too much overcome to take them into the house. Manager Andrus of the Rubber Mills company, was one of the first on the scene and was almost completely overcome.

"My foot was caught, mamma," said the dying girl, whose wide eyes looked wistfully into the tear-stained face of the mother.

"I want to die right away, mamma," she said. The child was conscious and talked to her parents for nearly an hour, before death came. She did not seem to suffer pain.

"You don't want to die, do you Ma-

"JUDGING FURS"

A New Book on an Old Subject. Read with Interest and Easy to Get.

The country doctor probably makes a better combination of common horse sense mixed with scientific knowledge than any ordinary man. At any rate his example may well be followed touching the use of furs for health. The successful country doctor wears furs—generally he owns a fur overcoat (or a fur-lined coat) and he wears it, too.

In the northern climate a fur garment is a health necessity. People get along without furs as they get along without many things, but a man's wardrobe is not complete without a fur coat, and, with the other side of the house no argument is necessary—every woman needs furs—she needs them for health; she ought to have them for comfort and she wants them for their beauty and style. Nothing adds so much to the effectiveness of dress as furs.

A new book, nicely illustrated and easily read in a half-hour—written from the view point of the purchaser and wearer of furs rather than that of the dealer or manufacturer, is just from the press, published by Lanpher, Skinner & Co., the St. Paul fur manufacturers, whose product is on sale in the leading retail store of every town in the Northwest and sold from Maine to Oregon.

This book is called "Judging Furs."

If any of our readers have any interest in furs, either for themselves or as presents to friends—men, women or children—this book is worth asking for—which is all it costs. A mention of this paper will be appreciated. Write to Lanpher, Skinner & Co., St. Paul, and they will send you the booklet and the name of the nearest retail dealer who sells "Lanpher Furs."

NEWS FORECAST OF THIS WEEK

(Special Tribune Service.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 11.—The coming week will likely see an increase in the intensity of the polical campaign throughout the country, as the date of election approaches. In New York both Mr Hughes, the gubernatorial candidate of the republicans, and Mr. Hearst, the candidate of the democrats and the independence league, will be heard in several speeches. In other parts of the country Messrs. Bryan, Cannon, Beveridge, Shaw and other spellbinders will continue on the stump. The Cuban affair will naturally occupy a large measure of President Roosevelt's attention. What time he has left will be given to the cleaning up of routine business that accumulated during the summer and probably he will continue work on his annual message, which he desires to have completed at as early a date as possible.

The annual national encampment of United Spanish War veterans will attract a large crowd to Washington during the week.

The American board of commissioners for foreign missions will hold its ninety-sixth annual meeting during the week at North Adams and Williamstown, Mass. The meeting this year is attracting more than usual attention as it will be in the nature of a celebration of the "Haystack Centennial."

The International Association of Fire Engineers will meet in thirty-fourth annual session next Tuesday at Dallas, Tex.

Rhode Island republicans will meet in state convention at Providence Thursday. Governor Utter will be renominated.

The international missionary convention of the Disciples of Christ will convene at Buffalo Friday for a six day's session.

The premiers of the respective provinces of Canada will meet in conference at Ottawa Monday to consider the application made for the rearrangement of the financial subsidies to the provinces

IOWA EPWORTH LEAGUE

(Tribune Special Service.)

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Oct. 11.—Enthusiasm appears to be the keynote of the host of young people gathered here for the annual convention of the Iowa Epworth league.

Headquarters for the convention were opened this morning and every train during the day was filled with delegates from all parts of the state. The formal opening takes place this evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church, which has been elaborately decorated with red and white, the colors of the league, intermingled with the national emblem and a profusion of flowers. Rev. Elias Handy, of Washington, Iowa, will preside over the sessions, which will continue until Monday. The prominent speakers will include Dr. Harry Curtis Hammon, D. D., of Harrisburg Pa.; Dr. L. C. Lemon of Davenport, Geo. F. Sutherland of New York City, Rev. W. A. Quayle, D. D., of Chicago, and Miss Inga Ingersoll of Keokuk.

"The Quest of the Useful" is the errand of the multitude—made easier, in half its aspects, by the fixed habit of "ad-reading."

HAYSTACK CENTENNIAL OBSERVED

(Tribune Special Service.)

WILLIAMSON, Mass., Oct. 11.—On the spot where, one hundred years ago, five earnest young Christians huddled beneath a haystack during a rainstorm and engaged in a discussion that lyed to the formation of the American Board of Foreign Missions, there gathered today a notable array of mission workers and others who assembled to pay homage to the memory of Sammuel J. Mills and his four associates, James Richards, Francis L. Robbins, Byram Green and Harvey Loomis, who started the missionary movement that today covers the globe with a network of stations.

It was the second day of the annual meeting of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions and it was especially est aside on the program as Haystack Centennial day. The meeting of the board is being held this week in the neighboring city of North Adams. But it was thought appropriate that the centennial celebration should be held in Williamstown, the seat of Williams College, of which institution the five young founders of the board were students. In commemoration of the Haystack meeting a handsome marble monument has been erected and it was here that the exercises of today were begun with an early morning prayer meeting.

The prayer meeting was followed by academic services in the Thompson Memorial of Williams College. The program included an address of welcome by President Hopkins, an address by President Tucker of Dartmouth College and the bestowal of degrees upon some of the prominent missionaries in attendance.

This afternoon interesting open-air services were held in Mission park. Among the speakers were eminent divines representing the Baptist, Presbyterian and Reformed denminations. The evening exercises will be transferred to North Adams. The listed speakers include President Henry C. King of Oberlin College, John R. Mott of the Students' Volunteer Movement, and Prof. Harlan P. Beach of Yale University.

NURSES STUDY ART OF LOBBYING

ST. PAUL, Oct. 11.—"Don't stand before thme too long and when they look bored, why, just pass right on."

Rules for the successful lobbyist were hung up before the Minnesota State Nurses' Association and some valuable side lights on the great national game of lobbying were given. The nurses looked worried. They have decided "to enter politics," as one of them put it. They will endeavor to have the legistlature pass a registration law.

"But must we face them with a box of cigars?" gasped another.

"No," declared Miss Seidensticker of Chicago, who was conducting the school on lobbying, "it is better to go before them empty-handed."

"Wouldn't the senators take a cigar if we offered one?" timidly ventured another, and the pretty furrow between her eyes showed that the matter was one of deep aitation.

Senators are Human

"Yes, senators, after all, are human, you know, and would take one," explained a more sophisticated sister, "but, as I have learned, it is better to go before them empty-handed."

There was a sigh of relief when it was ruled that the senators prefer to choose their own cigars.

"Remember, ladies, do not stand before them too long. They don't like that."

"How are we to know when we have stood before them long enough?" seriously asked one of the nurses.

"As soon as you see that they are the least bit bored, and you know that might happen with a lot of nurses gathered around them at once, why quietly pass on," was the explanation.

Legislators are Easy

"But how are we going to meet them—must we go into their den?" queried another, and there was a slight tremor at the mention of "den."

It was explained that legistlators are the most approachable people in the world, and all the nurses must do is to meet them in a very rational and natural way and state their case as briefly and consisely as possible.

Miss Seidensticker who was a member of a lobbying committee of the Illinois State Nurses' association, which nursed a bill for enough along to get it up to the governor of the state, where it died under the veto treatment, proved to be a valuable instructor to the Minnesota Nurses' Association, which is just cutting its teeth in matters political.

HEARST BY EIGHTY THOUSAND?

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Hearst leaders today claim, with the republican deflection, he will be elected by eighty thousand.

LEAVES PLACE TO ENGAGE IN LABOR

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 11.—Mary Harriet Forrester, wife of E. L. Forrester, a contractor, who disappeared from her fine home in this city Sept. 8, has been located at Cleveland, where she is working as a seamstress in a hotel. The woman was found by Chief of Police Kohler of Cleveland, who declined to take her into custody but notified officials here that Mrs. Forrester had told him she would be found at the hotel when she was wanted. Se declines to make any statement in regard to her departure, and says she is satisfied. Forrester started for Cleveland last night, and will make an effort to get his wife to return with him and to her children. Mrs. Forrester was formerly Mary Harriet Moore of Sudbury, Canada.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

(Tribune Special Service.)

D. J. Campau, the Michigan democratic leader, denies the report that he favors Hearst for the presidency.

Ex-Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota, who has cast his political fortunes with about every party or movement that has sprung up during the past quarter century, has accepted an invitation to help William R. Hearst in his New York campaign.

Former Governor James E. Campbell, who once was regarded as a democratic presidential possibility, has accepted the nomination for congress in the Third Ohio district.

Owing to his business affairs at home, Hoke Smith, the new governor of Georgia, has found it necessary to decline the invitation to take the stump in the present campaign in Texas. Despite the fact that their success is assured the democrats of the Lone Star state are pursuing a vigorous campaign with a view to rolling up an unprecedented majority.

For the first time since the Australian ballot was adopted in Ohio the republican ticket at the next month's election will be placed in the second column of the ballot. The loss of first position for the ticket headed by the eagle is due to the democratic success at the last election.

General J. B. Weaver, who was the People's party candidate for president in 1892, and Green back candidate in 1880, is running for congress on the organized labor party ticket in the Sixth district of Ohio.

Congressman Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of President Roosevelt, is scheduled to speak at the opening of the campaign at Findlay, Ohio, this week.

Phillip B. Stewart, who declined to run as the republican candidate for governor of Colorado, is a son of John W. Stewart, once governor of Vermont, and a grandson of Horatio Seymour.

GOOD HEALTH
is the main essential to produce a cheerful state of mind.
Healthfulness is only obtained through the proper care that one takes of themselves, and the food that they eat.
Physicians tell us that all cereal foods are the best for people to eat, because of the nutrition that they possess.
PERFECTION BEER
is a cereal food-brewed from some of the most nutritious grains grown. It is considered food and drink all in one. The bitter of the hops in Perfection Beer is so manifest in every glass that it has received the indorsement of physicians as one of the best tonics known.

BOTH PHONES NO. 2. LA CROSSE, WIS.

WIS. STATE TEACHERS' BULLETIN IS ANNOUNCED

The second bulletin concerning the plans for the Wisconsin State Teachers' association, with announcement of the general program and sectional conferences, which is to be held in Milwaukee Dec. 27-29, will be issued about Oct. 18.

Since the publication of the last announcement several features have added to the general program, including a discussion of the "Relation of Our Educational System to the Present Industrial and Commercial Developments." The phrase regarding the "University and State" will be taken up by President Charles Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin. C. J. Brewer will talk on the "University and the High School" while the "University and the People" will be duscussed by Neal Brown, of Wausau.

Bishop Schinner to Speak

The music for the general session will be furnished by a quartette and there will be a recital of kindergarten songs by Milwaukee kinderartens under the direction of Mrs. Francis E. Clarke. A particularly interesting feature of the convention will be the address on the "Function of Sectarian Schools and Colleges," to be given by Bishop A. F. Schinner of Superior.

In the city graded school section Miss Kathlyne Libby of Milwaukee will have a paper on "Languages," to be followed by a discussion on "Drawing," by Miss Lula Cropper. In this section there will be a discourse on "The Backward Pupil; What We Are Doing for Him."

No small interest is attached to the kindergarten and primary section, in which Miss Katherine Dopp, author of "Tree Dwellers and Cave Men," will speak on some nature subject. An address will also be given by Miss Rosalia Hatherell on "Excursions and Field Trips."

The conference of the state graded section will include papers on "How May Teachers Be of Mutual Help?" by George H. Drewry, state school inspector; "Strength and Weakness of the graded School Graduate," W. J. Hamilton, New London, with a discussion by Grant German of Ithaca. Another subject is "What We Are Doing to Secure Better Spoken English," by R. M. Lamont, Fifield, the discussion of this paper being given by Miss Margaret Stafford of Monticello.

"Some Things We Are Teaching the Boys in Agriculture" will be explained by R. B. Johns, Wausau, and will be discussed by Fred Christianson of Manitowoc.

To Discuss Ventilation.

One of the most important sectional meetings will be that of the college, normal and high school section, which has for its general subject, "Ventilation in Our Schools and Its Relation to Contagious Diseases." There will be four conferences, the one on mathematics being devoted to a report of a committee concerning "Contents of Algebra," "French in the Secondary Schools," and "The Value of Latin," will be the topics in the language conference, while the history department will consider "History Teaching in the High Schools." "Laboratory Work in Physical Geography" and "Scope of High School Botany" will be considered by those instructors interested in science work.

The vital questions under discussion at the manual training and domestic science conferences will be "To What Extent Should Elementary Manual Training Influence a Child's Home Activities?"; What is Manual Training Doing For the High School Student?"; What Benefits May the Grammar School Girl Derive from the Study of Domestic Science?"; "Outdoor Gardening as an Element in Education." For the benefit of the visiting teachers the manual training plant of the First district school, Cass and Kewanee streets, will be in operation during the convention, each class doing the work illustrative of its grade. Pupils in the cooking school, the workshop and in drawing will exhibit their work.

Lachenmaier on Gymnastics

Extensive work is being prepared for the conference of the Superintendents and Supervising Principles' association section. An address on "Teachers' Meetings" will be given by W. H. Schulz of Eau Claire, the discussion to be given by R. E. Loveland of Darlington. "Corrective Gymnastics," by William Lachenmaier, Milwaukee, and "Football in the High School," by G. H. Landgraf, with discussion by C. C. Parlin, Wausau, will be among other subjects to be discussed, as well as "Evening Schools in Large Cities," by F. M. Weiman, Milwaukee.

State Superintendent C. P. Cary is to speak on "The Superintendent," and L. D. Harvey will also take part in this program.

Conferences will be devoted to "Possible Affiliations of Normal and County Training Schools"; "Institute—Its Present Status and Possible Improvement"; "Training Teachers at Work"; "Drawing Work in Training School and After."

The department of music, physical training and special education features are preparing programs.

CORONER CHARGES MURDER BUT RETRACTS RASH STATEMENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Julius Harburger, who, in addition to his work of running his Harburger press agency, is one of the coroners of New York county, took another running jump into the limelight at the inquest into the death of Al Adams, "policy king," by accusing W. E. D. Stokes of murdering Adams. The little coroner then found the limelight so hot that in his subsequent charge to the jury he practically directed it to render a verdict of suicide, which it did without a moment's delay.

After the jury had rendered the verdict to the effect that all the testimony showed that Adams had committed suicide, Attorney W. M. K. Olcott, who had come to the inquest in answer to a hastily telephoned request in answer from Mr. Stokes, arose and insisted that Coroner Harburger retract that part of his opening address to the jury in which he had charges Stokes with the murder of Adams. The coroner made the retraction.

"We are not concerned with Coroner Harburger's private opinions," said Mr. Olcott, when asked whether Mr. Stokes would have the coroner removed. "The coroner has taken back his ridiculous charge against my client and that ends the matter so far as Mr. Stokes is concerned. I will not discuss the matter any further.

The wild charges made against Mr. Stokes by Coroner Harburger, to prove which he did not at any time bring forward any evidence, made the liveliest sensation the criminal courts building has had in a long time. Grouped around in the main room of the coroner's offices while the sparks were flying highest were Coroner Acritelin, Assistant District Attorney Manley, Al Adams Jr., Police Capt. Burfind, Chief Clerk Bausch, and a number of clerks and reporters. They held their breath in astonishment when Harburger, his five foot figure shaking with rage, gamboled into the spot light.

Harburger was opening his mail in his private office when Mr. Stokes, in whose hotel, the Ansonia, Adams killed himself last week, entered the coroner's office in answer to a subpoena to appear as a witness at the inquest. Stokes has claimed ever since the suicide that Harburger called up a news agency the morning the body was found in a hotel to say there had been a murder in the Ansonia and to send reporters there. Harburger swung around in his chair and said: "Good morning" abruptly as he saw Stokes standing glaring at him from a corner of the office. Stokes muttered a reply and said:

had a hand in this so-called suicide. You wanted, too, to suppress the murder!"

"You're a liar, you foreign little ——! You dirty little shyster," Stokes cried.

"Coroner Harburger, I want to give you the name of an important witness, a bellboy, at the Ansonia, who hasn't been subpoenaed. I gave his name to the police some time ago. Why has nothing been done about it? I want all this thing cleared up."

Harburger glanced toward the reporters, straightened up to his full height, and walked up stage toward the main room.

"You're handing in this name pretty late, Mr. Stokes," roared Harburger with extreme severity.

"I gave it to the police," answered Stokes shortly, while the side lines began to close in. "My hotel has been suffering from the notoriety. We've lost about $20,000 all because statements that come from a source I'd like to get at. I'll bring suit against whoever called up the news association the morning of Adams' death and said there was a murder in my hotel. Did you do it?"

Harburger, who had been advancing under the eaves of his clerks and other friends on the side lines, began to hem and haw with indecision.

"This—this is a public office," he finally answered, apropos of nothing in particular, "it's most important office of people."

"I know it's important," answered Stokes, advancing toward the coroner, "and I don't like to see it occupied by foreign bred shysters. I'm an American, with American ancestors, and I should like to see this office conducted in a dignified American manner."

It was right after that word "shyster" that Harburger began his murder charges. 'Stokes, you can't terrify me," screamed the coroner, losing all control of himself. "I believe you

"Well," answered Harburger, with a sneer. "I think I have the man needed in the case. I'll put you, you millionaire ——, under lock and key, with all your millions."

Stokes, now white with passion, pushed back his coat and reached toward his back pocket. He may have been reaching for a handkerchief to wipe his dripping brow. Harburger chose to interpret the act differently.

"Ah, ah!" cried Julius, dramatically, as he turned and faced the reporters and yelled, presumably to Stokes, "Ah, you millionaire, you would draw a pistol on me, would you?"

"No, I don't have to draw a pistol on people like you," was the retort. "You are not worth it."

Just at this point it looked bad for the physical part of Julius, as Stokes was advancing on the coroner. Here Harburger made the direct charge of murder against Stokes.

"You ought to be incarcerated," shrieked Harburger. "I think you had a hand in the death of another man. You are the man I suspect."

Frank O'Connor, Harburger's secretary, grasped his chief at this interesting moment and hustled Julius into his private office and closed the door. The inquest, which Harburger opened by repeating to the jury his earlier charges against Stokes, began a few minutes later and ended as already indicated.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 11.—Newport had a brilliant international wedding today as a fitting climax to one of the most strenuously gay seasons in the history of this famous and fashionable resort. The contracting parties were Miss Evelyn Blight, youngest daughter of Mr. Atherton Blight, of Philadelphia and Newport, and Mr. Mahlon Alanson Sands, of London.

The fashionable summer colony—many members of which have tarried by the seashore longer than was there wont on purpose to attend the wedding—turned out in full force for the marriage ceremony, which was performed in Emanuel Church by Rev. Emory H. Porter. The interior of the church was gorgeously decorated with rare plants and blossoms.

Miss Blight had as her attendants Miss Margaret Winthrop and Miss Greenough of Boston and Miss Natica Rives and Miss Muriel Delano Robbins of New York. The bride made a most bewitching picture in her imported bridal gown of white chiffon, embroidered in silver, over which fell a tulle veil, fastened with orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of orange blossoms and gardenias. The bridesmaids wore gowns of torquoise blue plumes, the ensemble forming an attractive foil for the white-robed bride.

Mr. Murray Graham of London, was best man,and the ushers were young men well known in fashionable

Following the ceremony at the church, the bridal party and guests repaired to Shady Nook, the beautiful Blight villa on Bellevue avenue where a wedding breakfast and reception were given. For this function 2,500 invitations were issued.

FAULTY DIGESTION.

Quickly Shatters the Nervous System and Should Be Given Attention at Once.

If the sufferer with weak nerves only realized that a faulty digestion was the chief cause of nerve exhaustion, a cure would be much easier, for he would then strengthen the digestive organs with Mi-o-na stomach tablets.

A few days' use of these tablets will tone and strengthen the digestive system so that it will absorb all the elements of nerve force from the daily food, and the nerves will be strengthened, sleeplessness will be overcome, weakness will vanish, and the various functions of the body will become natural and regular.

If you have specks before the eyes, are sleepless, have nervous twitchings, headaches and backaches, if there is nausea or distress after eating, if the appetite is poor and there is general debility and weakness, begin the use of Mi-o-na at once, and you will soon notice a marked improvement in health. It will give strength and vigor to the whole digestive system, restore the vital force and nerve energy, and impart ambition, strength and good spirits to the discouraged, run-down and weak.

You run no risk whatever in buying Mi-o-na, for O. T. Erhart gives an absolute guarantee with every 50-cent box that the money will be refunded unless Mi-o-na does all that is claim-

A DRAIN ON THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

You cannot hire men for less than men are worth to others. This city can't. As water seeks its level, the services of men will seek the best returns.

The firemen of La Crosse want a raise. They ask that they be paid an advance of $10 per month. They say $55 is not enough. They will not work for that price, if anything better appears.

Better things appear. Young men of sense and ability are wanted in the fire department. It is no place for plodders. The fireman must be intelligent. He must be active mentally as well as physically. He must grasp a situation quickly, take orders with instant understanding and execute them with daring and dispatch. Upon his ability to do this often depends the saving of thousands of dollars and even human lives.

Can you get that sort of men for $55 to $65 per month? Will they stay with the city? Is it any wonder that the department suffers from resignations? Are good men to be blamed for seeking better pay in private pursuits? Can an efficient fire department be maintained if its men are constantly leaving and new and inexperienced material must be depended upon? Does it pay the city to risk lives and property amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars just to save a few hundreds a year through a poorly paid fire department? Hazardous work, involving physical hardship of a trying nature and demanding a high grade of intelligence as well as physical strength and agility, cannot be bought for a song. Until the city pays a reasonable amount for it, it will be snapped up by private interests that are willing to pay fair wages.

We are of the opinion that the city council should take the firemen's application for a raise quite seriously. They should compare wages paid here with those paid in other cities. They will find we are away below the average. The paying of insufficient wages is not economy.

LA CROSSE MERCHANTS FOOLED

You, Mr. Merchant, bought an advertisement. You paid 25 cents or 15 cents or 10 cents or 7 cents an inch for it, according as you are favored or not, wise or not. You paid this money in CASH to the Morning Laughing Stock or the Evening Common Stock. It appeared in the print. Along one side of your advertisement was a story. If you looked carefully you probably discovered that it was word for word the same story you read in the last issue of the other paper. If your advertisement was in the Evening Common Stock, the story was "lifted" verbatim from the Morning Laughing Stock, and vice versa. Under your advertisement, or beside, or above it, or perhaps all around it, you find "medicine crap." You observe that no one can read your advertisement without reading of the virtues of the Marvelous Whirling Spray, and the Women's Safe Regulator and Pennyroyal Pills. They read above your advertisement how they may receive free a valuable booklet about private diseases. They read beside your advertisement of a remedy for Perspiring Feet. Constipation Put to Rout, and Morphina Cure (which is more morphine) stops the habit. Hair Absolutely Restored, Foul Breath Cured, dope for rheumatism, catarrh, eczema, nervous debility—these and scores of others actually BURY YOUR ADVERTISEMENT. In one issue this week one of these papers contained FORTY-EIGHT MEDICINE SLOP ADVERTISEMENTS.

Some of these are legitimate advertisements of standard proprietary medicines. Most of them are not. YOU PAY CASH. Most of these medicine houses PAY IN MEDICINE which the newspaper resells under the name of a drug house, at a great discount, paying the druggist a cut-up, and getting what is left, which often is next to nothing, for its space.

Your advertisement, buried in this medicine slop at next-to-nothing an inch, goes out to about one-fourth as many people as the publishers swear it goes to. These papers SWEAR to over 6,000 subscribers each. You KNOW that is a lie. You know that without counting or inquiring, for you know it is impossible here. Two papers, identical because each picks up the other's news, swearing to 12,000 circulation in a city that CONTAINS ABOUT FIVE THOUSAND HOUSES. If it is a lie it is likely a big lie. We assure you that there is not a newspaper in La Crosse, excepting The Tribune, that has 3,000 circulation. We are willing to forfeit a substantial sum if any other daily here can prove a circulation of more than 2,400. Any great advertiser will tell you that 3 cents per every 1,000 of circulation is the highest price paid anywhere for avertising space. If you are paying 15 cents you are paying more than 5 cents per thousand of circulation. You should pay the Evening Common Stock 8 cents and the Morning Lauhing Stock 6 cents per inch—not more.

In a short while the Association of American Advertisers will have a man in La Crosse. He will come to check up circulation. The Tribune will print his report as to its circulation. Watch and see whether any other English daily newspaper in La Crosse prints his report regarding its circulation.

If type lifted from yesterday's paper and nothing-an-inch plate medicine slop makes a newspaper, the La Crosse merchants who pay real money for space in the Morning Laughing Stock and the Evening Common Stock are getting a run for theirs.

In Germany a race has been run between an auto and a balloon. There were no casualties, precautions having been taken to keep the crowd off the course—of the balloon.

Wouldn't it be funny if they put Hearst over while his opponents are busy analyzing his motives in defying Tammany?

Too bad that the elder Germaines cannot start for the penitentiary at the same time the little Germaines start for the Sparta school.

It would keep a storekeeper busy displaying La Crosse-made goods were all the manufacturers to call on him at once.

There is a wide difference between an able business man and a cunning schemer, although at first sight they sometimes look alike.

"BOSS" CONNOR

John A. Aylward, the democratic candidate for governor, in speaking of the recent capture of the republican citadel by the stalwarts, said:

"What does that situation mean? It means this, if it means anything, that the reforms that have been fought for and obtained during the past six years shall be lost to the people of Wisconsin if Mr. Connor and Mr. Davidson are elected in November.

"It may not be possible that the laws will be repealed, but by the appointment of tax commissioners, railway commissioners and of the heads of the different bureaus and commissions, the laws will in fact be nullified. Think of W. D. Connor being called into consultation to appoint the railway commissioners; a man himself a millionaire several times by reason of the lumber trust, owning two railways in Marathon and Forest counties in Wisconsin; called in to appoint tax commissioners, when the assessment in his own town (the town of Cleveland) in Marathon county, where his own mills are, was set aside as false and fraudulent by the tax commission during the present week. Think of him being called in to appoint a tax commission of the state of Wisconsin"—Contributed.

CHILD

mie?" asked George Johnson, who accompanied the mother to the house with the injured child.

"Oh, I don't mind, Mr. Johnson. I'll be with the angels then, won't I mamma?" she said looking up into her mother's face.

Mrs. Hunt asked if a doctor had been summoned, and the child, overhearing the question, said:

"You don't need to get a doctor, mamma, for I'm going to die."

Dr. F. C. Suitor, who was called said she could not live, and the end came about 5 o'clock, just an hour after the accident.

The child attended the branch of the Fifth district school, Island and Berlin streets. Dagna Stenstad, who tried in her childish helplessness to save her friend, narrowly escaped a similar fate, trying to pull the victim from her predicament. Her hand was scratched in the accident by the train.

Every one who witnessed the incidents following the accident, soon after it occurred, said it was the most pathetic scene they had ever seen.

Big policemen were so moved by the speech of the little girl that it brought tears to their eyes.

Other men from the rubber mills who rushed out, were dumbfounded and could do nothing to assist.

The brakeman who rushed to the rubber mills to telephone, after the accident, ran to the window of the office rooms and stood speechless, pounding on the window. When it was opened he still was unable to utter a word for some time.

Rev. Ambrose Murphy was at the home about half an hour after the accident. The little girl passed away very peacefully without any apparent pain or even a tear and several times expressed her wish to die.

It is learned that the rubber mills that a young lady who was employed there, about seven years ago, was also killed at the same place one morning while going to work.

The funeral of the unfortunate child will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. James church, Rev. Father Ambrose Murphy officiating and William Dwyer in charge. Interment wil be made in the Catholic cemetery.

PULLMAN CO. MUST DISGORGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Pullman company, who are striving to obtain larger dividends and a distribution of the $27,000,000 surplus, it was decided to open friendly negotiations with the Pullman management and impress upon it the reasons why larger dividends should be declared. About 5,000 shares were represented at the meeting.

Edward W. Henck was elected chairman and given authority to appoint a committee to learn what legal steps will be necessary in order to secure the desired end.

It was decided that a committee shall attend the annual meeting of the Pullman company in Chicago in November and present its request to the directors for a larger dividend. If this proceeding meets with no favorable action more radical steps will be taken.

JUST LIFE

As Life Goes

A radiant star at morning shown,
And by its brightness all entranced;
But soon its brilliancy had flown—
And heralds of the day advanced.

A flower opened wide in bloom,
The bee then came to sip and smell
Its fragrant, dainty, sweet perfume—
Its petals, wilting, drooped and fell.

The new day dawned 'neath perfect sky,
The morning bird stopped in his flight
To sing; but clouds came tumbling by—
And soon the day was lost in night.

But after night, the morning came,
The radiant star once more shown fair;
The fading flower bloomed again—
The clouds had parted—day was there.

Hopeless Desperadoes

(Lanesboro, Minn., Journal.)

A gang of slung-shot degenerates has made life a burden to men, women and children residing in this town for the past ten days or two weeks. Armed with a pocket of BB shot and these dangerous "guns" they have stood around on the streets making targets of signs, electric light globes and human beings. We saw a little boy who stood outside of Langlie's while his mother made a purchase Wednesday noon receive a bullet in the cheek and while he cried, the bunch laughed and joshed like the crowd of cowardly bullies that they were. That same noon three teachers in our schools were shot at after leaving the post office—one of the assailants, afraid to use his weapon hurled an over-ripe apple at the trio which struck the one walking on the outside, much to the delight of the little rascals.

This high carnival of juvenile crime came to a sudden end Wednesday night, and Thursday morning Mayor Tollefson and Marshal Galligan were out watching for a chance to nail one of the offenders for the purpose of making an object lesson of him. At school Prof. R. A. Buell warned the boys and today few slung shots are on exhibition on the down town streets of our town.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEEMEN MEET

Plans for the conduct of the republican campaign in La Crosse county and western Wisconsin will be laid tonight at a meeting of the executive and the finance committees of the county republican committee. Attorney J. E. McConnell, chairman, has called the meeting to be held in the republican headquarters, 318 Main street.

Ways and means of raising money to defray the expenses of the campaign and the extent with which it will be gone into will be considered.

The question of speakers for La Crosse also will come up. The state central committee probably will be asked to send either Governor Davidson or Senators La Follette or Spooner to speak here.

NOTABLE BIRTHDAYS.

Bishop McCabe.

Bishop C. C. McCabe, one of the most widely known bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, was born at Athens, Ohio, Oct. 11, 1836. He was educated at Ohio Wesleyan University and entered the Ohio Conference of the M. E. church in 1860. The most adventurous part of his career was his work as a Federal chaplain during the civil war. He was captured at Winchester and suffered a term of confinement at Libby prison. After the war he became pastor at Portsmouth, Ohio, and financial agent of Ohio Wesleyan University, his alma mater. His work in obtaining money for the university attracted the attention of the newly formed Church Extension Society, which enlisted him as assistant secretary. In 1884, at a critical period in the existence of the Methodist Missionary Society, he undertook the secretaryship of that important organization. During his long connection with these two societies, Dr. McCabe's work has made him famous throughout the Christian world. His voice has been heard in more hamlets, villages, towns and cities than that of any other living Methodist.

ELLIOTT MAY BE CHOSEN AS SUCCESSOR TO POWERS

Meeting of Wisconsin League Officials Will be Held in La Crosse Next Tuesday Evening

President John T. Powers has called the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Association of Professional Baseball clubs for La Crosse on Tuesday, Oct. 16. The magnates all have some matters which they want discussed and acted upon, in many cases, and the session will doubtless last two or three days.

Already the dope has gotten back again to the eight-club organization, and this matter will be brought up, and it is understood that every manager is going to put up a strong fight to bring such a circuit together for next year in Wisconsin. A proposed circuit is Green Bay, Appleton, Fond du Lac and Oshkosh in the northern end of the state, and La Crosse, Winona, Chippewa Falls and Wausau in the west. Freeport is not included in the circuit, because it is understood that the club oicials are now engaged in organizing an Illinois circuit.

The selection of a president is to be made at the meeting, and, as it is understood that President Powers is through with baseball in Wisconsin, quite a fight may be waged. President John A. Elliott of this city has been talked of as Power's successor, but he has stated that he would not have time to perform the duties.

Several disputed games will be brought up for discussion.

The champs will be awarded the pennant for 1906 and a committee appointed to purchase a suitable flag to be raised at the opening of the season next spring.

NEW Y. M. C. A. DEBATING SOCIETY ORGANIZED

"Resolved, that the United States senators should be elected by a direct vote of the people," will be the first question for the debate in the new debating society, formed at the Y. M. C. A. by Don C. Lewis. This question was chosen last night.

O. J. Ash will lead for the affirmative and E. G. Murphy, the negative.

HOOKER GOES IN NEXT MONDAY

William F. Hooker, a former La Crosse newspaper man, will be appointed tax commissioner of Milwaukee on Monday by Mayor Becker, to whom he is now private secretary. Tax Commissioner Bruce will resign on that date. Mayor Becker already has signified his intentions of appointing Mr. Hooker.

Mr. Hooker conducted the campaign of Becker in Milwaukee last spring, winning with ease. His victory was rewarded by appointment as private secretary and now as tax commissioner.

LOOSE TEETH

Made Sound by Eating Grape-Nuts.

Proper food nourishes every part of the body, because Nature selects the different materials from the food we eat, to build bone, nerve, brain, muscle, teeth, etc.

All we need is to eat the right kind of food slowly, chewing it well—our digestive organs take it up into the blood and the blood carries it all through the body, to every little nook and corner.

If some one would ask you, "Is Grape-Nuts good for loose teeth?", you'd probably say, "No, I don't see how it could be." But a woman in Ontario writes:

"For the past two years I have used Grape-Nuts Food with most excellent results. It seems to take the place of medicine in many ways, builds up the nerves and restores the health generally.

"A little Grape-Nuts taken before retiring soothes my nerves and gives sound sleep." (Because it relieves irritability of the stomach nerves, being a predigested food.)

"Before I used Grape-Nuts my teeth were loose in the gums. They were so bad I was afraid they would some day all fall out. Since I have used Grape-Nuts I have not been bothered any more with loose teeth.

"All desire for pastry has disappeared and I have gained in health, weight and happiness since I began to use Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Get the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

ASKS SENTENCE FOR HIS CRIME

Expressing the opinion that he ought to receive a jail sentence for the theft of the bicycle of Edward Dohlby, 2204 Kane street, on Oct. 7, Jacob Mullet was sentenced to forty-five days in the county jail. Judge Brindley coincided with the belief of Mullet that a jail sentence ought to be inflicted.

The prisoner, 18 years of age, discussed his crime freely, but asked for no clemcy. Mullet had never been in jail before. He was willing to take a chance, however. In view of the prisoner's innocence, Judge Brindley made the sentence light.

INVOKES PRAYER FOR DEMOCRATS

W. D. Connor Says Democrats Need Help With La Follette

"God help the democrats if he does!"

This was the remark of Chairman William Connor of the republican state central committee and candidate for lieutenant governor on the republican ticket, when a report was repeated to him at the Plankinton house that United States Senator La Follette was going to come back to Wisconsin after finishing his testimony on the grain elevator inquiry, and would go on the stump in opposition to the new boss, Mr. Connor, and the head of the republican ticket, Governor Davidson.

Matt Reagan, a democrat, and Dick White, one of Mr. Connor's lieutenants, were talking about the report circulated some time ago that Senator La Follette would fight the head of the ticket, out of gratitude for the help the democrats had given him in bringing about the legislation enacted in recent years. Herbert J. Piper, who was also present, had awakened reference to the report by alleging that Senator La Follette was not a constructive statesman, and that the statement of Chairman Connor in the course of the talk was soon noised about, creating considerable comment. —(From Milwaukee Journal.)

AYLWARD OPTIMISTIC ON DEMOCRATIC PROSPECTS

John A. Aylward, democratic candidate for governor, spent a short time in the city yesterday afternoon on his way to Viroqua from Prairie du Chien. J. W. Murphy, Platteville, democratic candidate for congress in the Third istrict against Representative J. W. Babcock, accompanied Mr. Aylward.

"The democrats are pulling together all over the state and the majority will vote the party ticket as they ought," said Mr. Aylward. "In the last few campaigns there have been democrats who voted the republican ticket.

"I am making my fight on the principles laid down in the democratic platform. I am laying special stress upon the plank referring to the control of all public service corporations. In my speeches I call attention to the fact that inasmuch as the stalwarts now have control of the affairs of the republican party in this state, not much may be expected from them in reforms along these lines.

"Another point that I am making a strong issue, and one that will cut a big figure in this campaign before we get through, is the question of having the state build highways by a direct tax upon the people. I am trying to explain this method of building roads, so the people will understand it, and I believe that it will meet with the approval of the farmers."

Mr. Aylward returns to La Crosse for an address at Germania hall tomorrow night. Friday morning he speaks at Bangor, in the afternoon at La Crosse. County Chairman Doherty will meet him at Bangor.

ASKS FOR FINANCIAL STATE OF LA CROSSE

Charles McCarthy, of the legislative reference library, Madison, has written to City Clerk Sieger for statistics on the financial condition of La Crosse to be used in a book, comparing the various cities of the state.

Mr. McCarthy wants to know the total assessed value of the real and personal property in La Crosse, the total indebtedness of the city on Sept. 1, 1906, and the floating debt. An approximation will due for the last figures.

The request will be complied with by City Clerk Sieger at once that La Crosse may secure a position in the statistics.

FRUIT SEASON IS DRAWING TO CLOSE

The California fruit season is gradually drawing to a close. Good prices have been maintained throughout the season and the quality of the fruit generally has been especially fine. California shippers have no reason to complain of the prices they have received this year. There are still a few peaches and grapes arriving but other fruits are now claiming more attention. Bartlett pears are becoming scarce and there is a fair demand for all the fruits on the market.

Bananas are in better demand, prices are very reasonable. Supplies are quite sufficient to meet the demand. With the exit of California fruit bananas will likely be in better demand and the quality of the fruit will improve.

Apples are in good supply and occupy the center of the stage now. Heavy receipts have come in during the past week and the quality generally is exceedingly low this year and everybody can have several barrels in their cellars this winter.

Lemons are quite scarce and still maintain very high prices with little likelihood of any decline for at least another month. There is an actual scarcity of lemons at the present time. There are still a few imported lemons on the market.

Oranges still continue to come from California. The demand is very good for this time of the year. Floridas will most likely arrive early this season, but usually the first shipments come in rather green a green condition and are not particularly desirable.

There is a good supply of concord grapes and the quality this year is fully up to the standard. Most of the receipts are coming from Michigan. The New York crop is about out and will soon be off the market. Prices are likely to remain quite firm as the demand is very heavy.

Prices on vegetables remain about the same. There is no particular change in the condition of the market and the demand is fairly good for this time of the year and dealers look for a good winter with quite moderate prices and heavy demand.

The butter and egg market remains about the same as the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Christ Hafner of 314 Mill street, are the proud parents of a baby boy, which arrived Monday.

The Soderberg store on George street will be opened today.

AT THE THEATERS

Samuel Bundy was "The Woman Hater." He became engaged to three designing widows. Life became too strenuous for him so he pretended insanity to relieve the situation. He scared away the two that he didn't want and he also scared away the one that he did love and wanted to marry. The last scene of the play is in a private lunatic asylum and after all complications are straightened out Bundy announces there are no women haters after all. Of course everybody knows this from the first but nobody can afford to miss the two hours and a half of fun furnished by Harry Beresford and his company of funmakers. Take a night off and go and see one of the funniest and most original comedians on the American stage. It might also be mentioned that "The Woman Hater" is one of the most laughable plays in which he has ever appeared. Don't forget the date, tonight, at the La Crosse theater.

A play imbued with all the thrilling elements of sensational flavor, gives to "A Gambler's Daughter" its distinctive qualities of healthful, and at the same time strenuous force as an entertainment of satisfying diversity. Hence the engagement of the elaborate production at the La Crosse theater next Saturday afternoon and night should prove an event of extraordinary imuortance.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

The first outward sign of Contagious Blood Poison is a small sore or blister. As the poisonous virus becomes more firmly entrenched in the blood a red eruption appears on the body, the mouth and throat ulcerate, the hair begins to come out, glands in the neck and groin swell, copper colored spots appear on the breast, back, etc., and the unfortunate victim finds himself diseased from head to foot. Mercury and potash do not cure Contagious Blood Poison; they shut the disease up in the system and remove the outward symptoms for awhile, but when the treatment is left off the trouble returns. Then the system being weakened from the action of these strong minerals the disease makes more rapid headway than before. S. S. S. is the antidote for Contagious Blood Poison. It cures permanently and certainly by going down into the blood and removing every vestige of the virus. It is free from all minerals, and while purifying the blood it builds up the entire system by its fine tonic effects. S. S. S. destroys every particle of the poison and removes all danger of transmitting it to others. S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison because it is a perfect blood purifier. FASHION PARAGRAPHS FROM NEW YORK

(Tribune Special Service.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—It is amazing how little real difference there is in the styles of women's suits and gowns this season from those of last fall and winter. Anything from the blouse to the 46-inch coat is good fall, and the colors run chiefly in blue, brown, green and gray in tailor-mades. In evening costumes the colors run in the usual light shades, and the empire effect is seen in almost everything.

The short sleeve and the long sleeve share about alike in favor with the leading houses, and neither can be said to predominate. In coats broadcloths are in strong favor, and the loose, semi-fitting and tight-fitting waists are all in vogue.

The silk petticoat, which has been so long in favor and which adds so much to the daintiness of a woman's appearance, is more than ever seen and a feature of the fashionable girl's apparel this season, and the most fetching are those in hand-painted designs—the latest French idea. In colors they are shown in browns, blues, greens, and the pasted shades; Scotch plaids are also popular and effective.

Walking suits with pleated skirts and short jackets will be very smart for fall wear and incidentally serviceable if made of medium weight cloth, such as most of the checks and stripes are manufactured in. The skirt—that is, the more dressy ones—just clear the ground and are really plain, despite the pleats and rows of buttons placed on the edges of them about half way between the waist and bottom hem. The buttons are either covered with material to match the dress or are of metal, and, because so many are used, small kinds are selected.

A plain, tight-fitting short jacket, that is especially becoming to a woman small in stature, is without trimming, even pleats in the back. In front the coat is finished with a vest like effect of white serge or fine, light-weight wool, and on either side of the fastenings the two rows of buttons corresponding to those on the skirt are placed near the top and also below the bust line. The jacket is cut low at the neck.

Large sleeves, fulled into the shoulders, are plain, with the exception of the lace gathered at the wrists.

Colors disagree just as men and women do. Most shades of red go together, and violet can be combined with any shade of black, but it is not very effective with white. It goes well with certain shades of red. Greens are most effective when combined with other tones of green. The different shades of brown is an old but somewhat unfashionable combination.

The gold and silver that are in the lead of all trimmings just now are used with any and every collor. There are some combinations, however, that are particularly effective. Black and silver is preferable to black and gold, but white and gold is in fine fashion.

There is nothing really more economical for a handsome hat for visiting or formal wear than the high-priced ostrich tips, or long feathers; black, of course, being the preferred color, and she who has a limited income will do well to invest largely in these plumes, especially those of medium length, although one very long plume is always desirable and also a number of short ones. Given a collection of ostrich plumes of good quality and a clever milliner can make much out of a simple shape.

Cheap ostrich plumes do not pay at all, and nothing but the best should be purchased. A really fine ostrich feather will stand even a little rain and not look bad, and when dry will be as good as at first, for the finest plumes never show the excessive curl away, leaving only a woeful stringiness in its place. A fine felt or velvet will outwear a half dozen cheap affairs and will always look well if properly brushed or cleaned.

Sweaters for the babies are the newest thing that young mothers can buy for the fall wear of their little ones.

These garments, made on the same lines as those worn by grown-ups, will be most serviceable for use before it is time to put on heavy winter wraps.

The sweaters are made with simple stitches in white wool, with a narrow border of pink or blue around the cuffs and neck or in light blue or delicate pink with white borders.

Some are made vest-like, cut quite low at the neck with the edges bound with silk, while others have the regulation turtle neck such as athletes wear.

These go on over the head and as they fit tight to the body need no button fastenings.

The revival of the old-fashioned styles in white blouses has been received with much favor and will be carried out in waists for winter. These have large or small tucks, sometimes both in alternate rows, and are fastened down the front with rather large pearl buttons through a box plate which may be hemstitched at the edge or left plain. At each side is a narrow ruffle of the fabric edged with lace.

The cuffs and collar turn over for three inches, are made double and are edged with the fuffles. The point to remember in making the collar is that it is mounted on a regulation high band first, which keeps it from turning over too near the base of the neck.

Sheriff's Sales on Execution

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit court of La Crosse county, Wisconsin, in an action wherein Catherine Oehler was plaintiff and Mrs. W. J. (Sophia) Cameron was defendant and to me directed and delivered against the property of the defendant, and for want of personal property of the said defendant subject to seizure and sale on execution whereof the amount of such execution, or any part thereof could be made, I have seized, levied upon and taken all the right, title and interest that said defendant, Mrs. W. Edward's addition to La Crosse, Wisconsin, according to the recorded plat of said addition of record in the office of the register of deeds of La Crosse county, Wisconsin; subject, however, to homestead rights and the dower interest of Taaline Sandbo, which I will on Saturday, the 20th day of October, A. D. 1906, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the east front door of the court house, in the city and county of La Crosse and state aforesaid, expose for sale and sell at public vendue to the highest bidder, for cash, or so much theroef as will satisfy said execution and subsequent costs.

Dated, sheriff's office, La Crosse, Wis., this 6th day of September, A. D. 1906.

TO PROMOTE IRRIGATION

(Tribune Special Service.)

HOOD RIVER, Ore., Oct. 11.—In compliance with the call issued by President Stephen A. Lowell the members of the Oregon Irrigation association assembled here today for their fourth annual convention. During the two days' sessions the meeting will discuss irrigation conditions in all parts of the state and also the need of adequate state legislation for the regulation and control of the irrigating waters.

EXECUTIONS IN RUSSIA CAUSE GENERAL STRIKE

LODZ, Oct. 11.—Socialists are declaring a general strike as a protest against the drumhead courtmartial by which there have been twenty-one executions in the last few days. This is precipitating serious difficulties. Business is at a standstill and bloodshed anew is expected.

EMPTY JAIL TO GET WORKMEN

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 11.—It remained for A. T. Brown of Muskegee, I. T., to solve the scarcity of cotton pickers problem. He walked into a local police headquarters and surprised the chief of police by offering to pay all fines of the prisoners in order to put them to work in the cotton fields. The unusual proposition was snapped up and after Brown paid $250 in fines, twenty-five prisoners were turned loose emptying the jail. They rejoiced in their freedom, notwithstanding the fact that they were hurried to gather crops under a blazing sun.

CORPORATIONS MUST MAKE STATEMENT OF THEIR BUSINESS

Are there any corporations in La Crosse county that have failed to comply with the law requiring them to file each year a report of their business with the secretary of state? This law is found in section 5, Session Laws of Wisconsin for 1905, which is a new section created and added to the statutes of 1898, and it provides that every corporation for profit, organized under the provisions of the statutes noted, shall annually, during the month of January, file with the secretary of state a report sworn to by the president, secretary, treasurer or general manager, or if the corporation is in the hands of assignee or receiver, by such assignee or receiver as of the first of January, which shall state:

"The name of such corporation and location, giving street and number.

"The name and address of the officers and directors of such corporation, giving street and number.

"The amount of authorized capital stock.

"The amount of capital stock annually paid in money, property and services.

"Whether such corporation was engaged in business during the preceding year.

"In what states such corporation is licensed to transact business as a foreign corporation."

It is provided that in case a corporation fails to file its report as noted, it shall be allowed to file such report prior to June 1 on payfent to the secretary of state of a forfeit of $10. In case the report is not filed by June 1, the secretary of state shall cause to be published once a week for three successive weeks a notice of such failure, in a newspaper published at or near the location of the corporation. It is also provided that the register of deeds of each county shall post in his office a list of the corporations located in his county who have failed to report. However, a corporation will be allowed to file its annual report prior to January 1 on payment of the costs of publication. In case the report is not filed by January 1, the corporate rights and privileges granted to a corporation shall be forfeited and the secretary of state is required to enter such forfeiture on the records of his department. No forfeiture shall be declared, however, under the law as as noted prior to March 1, 1907.

The law provides in addition that the secretary of state shall during the month of December of each year forward to every corporation required to make an anual report, blanks therefor.

Whenever any change is made in the officers of a corporation the names and addresses of the officers elected shall be filed with the secretary of state within twenty days after such change.

The question with which this article is introduced is prompted by the fact that up to date the secretary of state has not caused to be published any list of corporations in this county who have not complied with the law, nor has the register of deeds such a list posted in his office. In Milwaukee county a list of such delinquent corporations has now been published two weeks and it is a long one.

It is possible that the list of delinquents in La Crosse county has not yet been made out because this county is one of the last on the roll of counties of the state in alphabetical order. However that may be, the secretary of state has not yet caused official publication to be made of the names of corporations in this county who have not complied with the law relative to making reports as outlined in the foregoing.

FIVE CARS OF SILK PASS THROUGH CITY

Five cars of silk, en route from Seattle to New York, passed through La Crosse a few days ago. Shipments of this material are common through La Crosse, but never before have they been in such quantities as to necessitate a special train.

The silk was brought from Japan by the Great Northen Steamship Minnesota. The Great Northern ran it through special with a carload of fish, leaving Seattle on Friday and arriving in St. Paul at about 1 o'clock Monday. As soon as the cars could be switched, the Burlington got up a special train for the five cars, which left for Chicago in less than half an hour after they arrived.

There are approximately 117,000 pounds in the cars, ranging in shipments of 14,000 to 35,000 pounds. Raw silks are made up in bales, wrapped in Japanese matting, and the finished product is packed in cases. The silk is transported in baggage cars.

FISHING ON SUNDAY IS NO CRIME

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—Judge Foster denied a divorce to Mrs. Carrie Fisher, who claimed that her husband went fishing every other Sunday Judge Foster held that a man had a perfect right to go fishing if he did it in the proper way. Mrs. Fisher also averred that her husband said "damn it" to her.

"That is no ground for divorce," said Judge Foster. "A man has the privilege of saying damn every day in the week if things go wrong."

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

WIFE LASHES HER FRIVOLOUS SPOUSE

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Fannie Morris, supposed to be from Chicago, gave her husband, Charles Morris, a traveling man, a sound thrashing with a buggy whip here last night. The woman met the husband and another woman walking along Market street late last night and, hiding in the sradow until the couple passed her, she leaped from her hiding place and rained blows on the head and shoulders of the man. Morris was not seriously injured, but as soon as he could get away from the irate woman he fled. Mrs. Morris told an officer the story and stated that her husband had been coming to Kenosha for some time to see the other woman and that she had followed him. She refused to give the identity of the other woman in the case, stating that she did not know her and had never seen her until just before the whipping took place. Both Morris and his wife went to Milwaukee after the incident on the street. The woman refused to give her address.

PICK BABE FROM JAWS OF DEATH

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Oct. 11.—As Engineer Blake of the Wisconsin Central was pulling into Medford, he saw what he took to be a red flag some distance ahead of the train. He immediately began to slow up when he discovered that it was a little child playing in the middle of the track. He used the emergency brake, but the weight of the train was sliding the engine ahead in spite of all that could be done. Brakeman Nels Hagen and Harvey Wright, who were in the cab, ran out over the footboards of the pilot and while Wright held him, Hagen swung out ahead of the engine and lifted the little one out out of harm's way. When the train stopped the child was handed to the sister, who came running up.

OCONTO, Wis., Oct. 11.—The grand encampment I. O. O. F. of Wisconsin commenced here with the largest attendance in twenty years. The citizens provided an entertainment at the armory last evening in which Mayor W. A. Holt presented the visitors with the key to the city. In the forenoon the regular session of the grand encampment was held in Odd Fellows' hall. Sparta was chosen as the location of the next grand encampment by a large majority over Ashland. The following officers were elected: Grand patriarch, Charles Barker, Milwaukee; grand high priest, H. J. Suttle, Milwaukee; grand senior warden, W. H. Sherman, Beaver Dam; grand scribe, James A. Fethers, Janesville; grand treasurer, L. F. Thiessen, Oshkosh; representative, Alex Johnstone, Chippewa Falls; grand junior warden, John W. Salter, Unity; grand marshal, C. L. Grund, Durand; grand inside sentinel, F. C. Langwell, Sparta; grand outside sentinel, A. J. Caldwell, Oconto; trustee, B. I. Dugdale, Platteville.

The Patriarchs Militant held a competitive drill in the morning, Janesville being awarded first prize, consisting of a beautiful silver loving cup and $50 in cash; Oconto won second prize. The department council of the Patriarchs Militant held a business session in the morning electing the following officers: President, H. J. Suttle, Viroqua; vice president, A. J. Caldwell, Oconto; secretary, Richard credit. The decoration of chivalry was Fethers, Janesville.

At the morning session of the grand encampment the announcement was made that a daughter had been born to Mr. and Mrs. J. O. W. Lacouciere and the request was made that the grand encampment give the newcomer a name. She was christened by vote of the meeting, Rebekah Ruth and $10 voted out of the treasury to be placed in the savings department of the Citizens' National bank to her credit. The decortion of chivalry was conferred on Mrs. Fanny Root of Berlin, Mrs. Ella Waush, Mrs. Edith G. Martin, Mrs. Clara E. Buhler, Merrill; Mrs. Kate Smiteman, Neillsville, and Mrs. Elizabeth Turvey, Marinette.

A NEW AIRSHIP

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 11.—Jacob C. Miller, a mechanic at the West Milwaukee shops has invented a new kind of airship. It differs radically from all others thus far exploited. Miller dispenses with both wings and balloon, also with engines.

The flight is regulated by a series of funnels of aluminum. The small ends are uppermost and closed. Gasoline mixed with air is admitted to the funnels and when sparked the explosion which follows comes directly against the atmosphere. The lifting power is dependent on a number of the funnels and the rapidity of the explosions.

All the funnels will be joined and placed on a frame, which will admit of their being changed to any angle. Two levers will control the craft. To ascend the funnels will be placed in a perpendicular position, so the explosions will be downward. To turn to one way or another, to go ahead or back, the funnels will be so regulated as to cause the explosions to exhaust themselves opposite to the direction in which the skipper of the airship wishes to go. Simplicity is the keynote of Mr. Miller's ship.

There is no use in talking about getting the best Clothing unless you go where the best is sold. When we say the best we mean just what we say. Perfectly tailored, up to the minute in style and patterns, and every garment made of the best materials. That is what you get every time when you buy a Kuppenheimer garment.

Cravenettes The most essential garment a man can have. It is a perfect water-proof coat for wet weather and a stylish, perfect fitting, light weight overcoat on cool days.

Overcoats The swell body-tracing Kuppenheimer Paddock is the Dressiest overcoat for the Tony dresser. We have a swell line of these coats. You should not fail to see them before you buy. The Ray double-breasted, a very desirable, roomy, box overcoat. Some of the best dressers prefer this coat to any other. The Regent, a long, loose-fitting, stylish coat, and ideal garment for cold weather.

In fact, we have the largest, swellest line of Overcoats and Men's Suits in the city, and we will prove it to you if you will just call and see us, and remember, it don't cost any more to get one of our Kuppenheimer Suits or Overcoats than it does to get one of the inferior makes.
